NEWS IN BRIEF

Since the beginning of the school year the Dunbar Chorus has been featured at least twice monthly on the educational television sessions, sponsored by the city school system.

For the past three weeks faculty games have been staged here at Dunbar for the enjoyment of the student body. There have been thus far three games including one with the WLLL Radio Station Discjockeys. The program is under the leadership of Mr. Cofield.

* * *

On the fourth Monday in February the Dunbar Senior High P.T.A. will hold a meeting. All parents are encouraged to be present. The meeting will be held at 8 P. M. in the auditorium.

CHAMPION FOOTBALL TEAM HONORED AT BANQUET

The Dunbar Poets, 1965 Western District football co-champions, along with their coaches, Mr. John Organ and Mr. Garnell Stamps, were honored at a banquet on January 27.

In the school cafeteria, which was decorated with a goal post and purple and gold chrysanthemums, the guest speaker Mr. Talmadge Hill, former head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Morgan State College, spoke on the topic, "What Is the Occasion and Why Are We Here?"

Mr. Hill emphasized the rewards that accompany excellence. Defining loyalty as the esteem "which binds Dunbarians to the bosom of their Alma Mater," he lauded James Johnson, 1964 Dunbar gridiron star, who starred at Wake Forest College this year, and Allen Parks, 1965 football star who will play for Duke University next fall. He also praised Ralph Bunche and Robert Weaver, newly appointed chairman of the Housing Committee.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. O. M. Washington, chairman of the Mathematics

P.T.A. Variety Show Set For March

The ways and means committee of the Dunbar P.T.A. will sponsor a variety show in March. The exact night has not been set.

The program will feature a chorus line, a brief fashion show display, and contemporary modern dances. A comedy skit and the assassination scene from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" will also be part of the show.

The Rev. Haywood Robinson, pastor of Diamond Hill Baptist Church, and the Rev. E. G. Joyner, pastor of Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, along with L. G. Stamps, H. C. Waters, W. C. McClure and other faculty members will display their acting talents in the scene from "Julius Caesar."

The purpose of this committee is to provide some type of money-making project to defray expenses of the P.T.A.

Mrs. Grace R. Powell is chairman of the ways and means committee.

Two Dunbar seniors were among the ten high school finalists in the second annual essay contest sponsored by the Cooperative Building and Loan Association.

The finalists were Barbara Brown, whose topic was "Thrift and Its Place In The Free Enterprise System," and Vivian Cardwell, whose topic was "That Every High School Student Should Know About Thrift."

The general topic of the contest was "Thrift and Its Relations to Economics."

Barbara Brown Receives AEP Award

Barbara Brown, a prospective June graduate, has been selected as the winner of one of the awards in the 1966 Competition for the American Electric Power System's annual education awards.

Barbara was awarded the scholarship on the basis of her high standing on the Scholastic Aptitude Test and also for the high quality of her school academic performance.

Mr. Donald C. Cook, president of the American Electric Power Service Corporation, in a letter to Barbara, announced the award of $750. The money will be payable to the bursar of the college of Barbara's choice after she enters in September.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown of 811 Norwood Street. Among the many clubs and activities in which she participates are the CHRONICLE staff, of which she is Editor-in-chief, the National Honor Society, and the Student Council.

Yearbook Staff Makes Final Shipment

Members and advisers of the yearbook staff may now take a well-deserved "breather." February 14 was F.S. day for them—final shipment of copy, pictures, and layouts of the "1966 Dunbarian."

Since the first Dunbarian was published in 1952, it has grown in many respects. The first edition contained 76 pages, as compared with 132 pages in this year's edition.

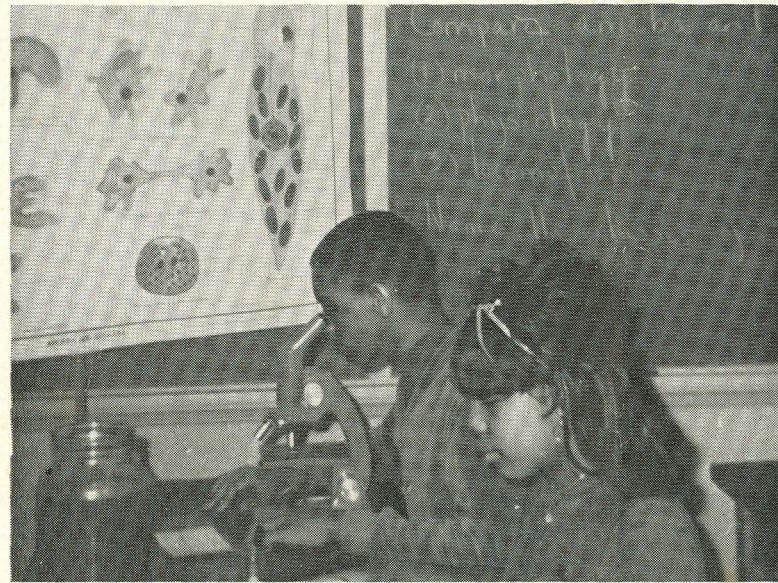

For the last six consecutive years the Dunbarian has received an "A" rating by the National Scholastic Yearbook Association, a rating service for high school, college and university books.

Last year the Dunbarian received a first place rating by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Eunice Jones, a senior, is editor-in-chief.

Mrs. J. H. Jones is production sponsor of the book.

The yearbook will be ready for distribution around May 16.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY—Marshall Davis and Janice Woodson, both sophomore biology students, observe the characteristics of the ameba under the microscope in comparison with those of the euglena.

Biology Students Attack Zoo

The biology classes of instructors R. D. Spencer and W. Sinkler have begun the semester with the study of the animal kingdom.

Having successfully completed their study of plants, their characteristics, structure, and methods of reproduction, the students are studying unicellular and multi-cellular animals, which include vertebrates and invertebrates.

In beginning their studies in the field of zoology, the students will be involved in the study of protozoa, one celled animals. The purpose of studying these minute, unicellular animals is to lay a fundamental foundation for the study of the more complex animals and the human body.

The primary purpose of the conference is to give students an opportunity to discover and further develop special talents and abilities which they possess and on which they might capitalize in planning for a career in the field of marketing and distribution.

'Meet My Ghost' Well Received

A mystery comedy in three acts, "Meet My Ghost" by Al W. Clark, was presented by the seniors on February 15.

The play, whose setting was the living room of the cemetery caretaker's home, contained a hilarious plot centered around a ghost and Joe Dobbs, portrayed by Warren Warwick.

Other members of the cast were Phillip Carr, Shirley Hunting, Annette Lee, Joyce Patrick, Melvin Pinn, Dianna Powell, and Peggy J. Smith.

Teachers Exchange Vows

Miss Annie B. Chambers and Mr. Carl F. Pinn exchanged marriage vows on December 27, in an impressive ceremony at the home of the bride. The CHRONICLE joins the faculty and student body in extending them congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. Pinn is chairman of the Physical Education department and Mrs. Pinn is a guidance counselor at Dunbar.

The approach to the animal kingdom is from the standpoint of evolution. This is to show the student the possible way in which the more complex animals developed.

(2) The Curriculum Study and Individual Participation Experience, and (3) The Group Activity and Project Experience.

Some of the contests in which students may participate are Advertising, Window Display Judging, Job Interview, Public Speaking and Sales Demonstration. Since the D. E. Club is small this year, they plan to enter only two of these contests: Sales Demonstration and Job Interview.

Arthur Ross, who is doing on-the-job training at Peck's Discount store, will enter the Sales Demonstration contest. The student for Job Interview has not been selected as yet.

"Since this is our first year to participate in the Leadership Conference, we are looking forward to attending with much enthusiasm," commented Mr. A. F. Thornhill, co-ordinator of the D. E. program at Dunbar.

Music Contest To Be Held

Each year the local Lion's Club sponsors the James Bland Music Contest. Participants are those who have excelled in the fields of instrumental and vocal music.

This year the program will be presented on a date to be set in March, in the Dunbar auditorium at 2:15 p.m. Participants in the instrumental section of the program are Perry Saunders, clarinet; Judy Rucker, clarinet; William Harris, trumpet; and Phyllis Jones, trumpet.

Vocalists participating in the program will be Sylvina Robinson and Davis Jones.

Mr. Russell, band director, and Mr. Winfrey, music instructor, will assist the students in preparing for the program.

Miss D. D. Lomax is the chairman of the Music Committee.

Where the Action Should Not Be

It has been brought to our attention that the decorum in the cafeteria is uncomplimentary to our school.

Most of the students are familiar with the telecast "Where the Action Is." This program is designed to enlighten the teenage world about the latest fads, dances and recordings. If a visitor or even a student were to notice the conduct in our cafeteria, they would, no doubt, wonder if it were not a bad reproduction of "Where the Action Is."

During the lunch period, there are numerous unsuitable activities being carried on. The Student Council has tried unsuccessfully for the last two years to get students to join in singing the grace. For a time, students would sing; now only the "Amen" is sung. Immediately after the last note is played on the piano, there is an outburst of laughter.

This leads to another observation: excessive noise which ranges from boisterous outbursts to even miniature quarrels. Popular music has been played during lunch but this has proved meaningless.

No doubt, an acceptable fad is "borrowing money" with no intentions of reimbursing the benefactor. It is not an uncommon thing to see a student standing at the lunch desk with

Inquiring Reporter By Myra Gordon

In recent months, more and more news about teenagers and delinquency has been spotlighted in newspapers nationally. However, those persons causing nationwide criticism for all teenagers are in the minority, for many concerned young persons are forming counsels to discuss this mutual problem. "Do you think that it would be beneficial if teenage representatives from area schools would meet and discuss their mutual problems?"

Roger Burford: "Yes, I do because we would like to do something to gain our respect again."

Alice Carter: "Perhaps it would be a good idea because it makes you angry when a few people cause trouble and you can't do anything about it."

Mr. Stamps: "Yes, for it seems to be the sensible thing to do since teenagers know their problems better than we do. As adults, we can only speculate. Under proper supervision the youth's integrity and good sense will be brought to the foreground and the result will be overwhelming success for a project like this."

Mr. B. A. Miller: "I don't really think so. Since the parents are largely responsible for the many problems

No doubt, an acceptable and a commendable intention of reimbursing the benefactor. It is not an uncommon thing to see a student standing at the lunch door with out-stretched hands asking for "change."

Before going any further, let's go back and set the stage for proper cafeteria behavior, and not for a television broadcast or for street conduct.

Upon entering the cafeteria, we should lower our voices in order to create an atmosphere conducive for eating. Secondly, when the grace is sung, we should blend our voices in reverent thanks to Him, Who blessed us to have food to nourish our bodies.

Thirdly, the habit of sponging on our comrades for spending "change," can only be corrected by the victim's learning to say NO to his parasitic "friends." This is the only way to make these so-called friends become independent and honest. Often the person who claims he is broke and hungry has money in his pocket. There is no harm in borrowing money if the borrower is one who repays his debts.

Each person who eats in the cafeteria must be responsible for doing his share in making the cafeteria a place for eating and moderate conversing and not a place for recreation.

Congratulations To The Observer

The editor and the staff of the DUNBAR CHRONICLE congratulate the advisers and the student staff of the new Dunbar Junior High School's newspaper, "The Observer," for a job well done.

"Observation, not old age, brings wisdom," the motto of the newspaper, proved quite true in the first edition of "The Observer." Through keen observation, coupled with the exuberance of youth, the students of Dunbar Junior High School published a well-rounded newspaper with expertly laid-out pages. The articles in the "cub" paper could easily match or excel those in newspapers which boast years of experience. "The Observer" exhibits ingenuity as well as a substantial amount of hard work.

Again, we congratulate the staff and wish for them continued success. We also hope that in the next few years and in the ensuing years some of the members of the staff of "The Observer" will share their talents and experience with the DUNBAR CHRONICLE.

Mr. C. W. Seay

Chronicle Salutes Principal Seay

Too often many great men are not lionized during their life time. Sometimes this happens as a result of our "far-sightedness," for we often look away from our own backyards into those of others to search for outstanding people.

The person we deem worthy of praise is, so to speak, in our own backyard; in fact, he is the head of our "family."

Mr. C. W. Seay, our principal, is not a man who desires praise; but he is certainly one who deserves it. Therefore, the DUNBAR CHRONICLE turns the spotlight on Principal Seay, who symbolizes wisdom, devotion, loyalty, and citizenship.

Principal of Dunbar since 1940, Mr. Seay adroitly executes his obligations as a school administrator. The door of his office is always open to students, faculty, and any other interested persons who wish to discuss problems, curricula, or any subject of interest to the welfare of the student body.

Frank Hughes, president of our Student Council says, "I am confident that any advice Mr. Seay gives is for the betterment of the student body and is the result of serious thought and broad knowledge."

Outside the walls of Dunbar, Mr. Seay plays a leading role in the improvement of our city, state, and nation. Recently he was appointed to a three-year term as vice-chairman of the City Planning Commission. He is chairman of the Liaison Committee of the Southern Association of Secondary of our young people, I feel that a program geared to the enlightening of parents of these problems and possible solutions would be more effective."

Richard Scott: "Yes, it would be helpful because the teenagers that aren't bad never get a chance to show that they aren't unless something rare happens. So this would be a good way to show the community we don't like show-offs either."

Evangela Jones: "Yes, because the derogatory statements made by adults who only look at half the picture forget that there are some good teenagers."

Darnelle Brewer: "Yes, because it will help teenagers to get a better understanding of their problems by talking to friends."

CLUB GLANCES

Theatre Guild Holds Meeting

The regular meeting of the Theatre Guild, Tuesday, February 8, at 6:30 p.m., with the president, Veronica Sherrill, presiding, was both entertaining and informative.

The meeting was planned to include certain aspects of play production. Veronica Sherrill spoke on the general organization of a dramatic presentation emphasizing the duties of each person associated with it. Hers was truly the voice of authority because last summer she studied at Hampton Institute on a drama scholarship.

Also, the club heard Viola Lynch speak on her experiences at Michigan State University, where she attended a summer workshop in drama. Viola told of how she and other members in the course of Technical Theatre had to build their own scenery, secure their own costumes, and locate their hand properties. She concluded her presentation by giving a very good dramatization, taken from The Imaginary Invalid by Moliere.

No production would be complete without a lighting system. "The Meaning and Importance of Lighting" was the topic developed by Ben Jones, a very efficient school projectionist.

This most enjoyable meeting ended with the singing of the Theatre Guild song.

"The Art of Make-up" is the topic for the next meeting, at which time a film will be shown and demonstrations will be given.

Le Cercle Francais Installs New Members

The induction ceremonies of the French Club took place January 11, at 3:30 p.m. in room 205.

The meeting opened with devotions by Rozelle Cheagle, who is a sophomore. Senior Vivian Cardwell, then introduced the new members. Sharon Hunting read the constitution, after which Elizabeth Robinson presented the club's oath.

A poem was recited by Shirley Jones, "La Vie est Vaine," (Life is Vain"). French games were played by members while refreshments were served by Shirley Jones.

Beverly Elliot, a junior, was the winner of one game called the statue. A prize was awarded to her for impersonating a statue which could be recognized by other members of the club.

The members of the French Club then sang a fun song, "L'Alouette."

Commercial Clothing Emphasizes Theory And Practice

Located in the vocational shop building at Dunbar is the Commercial Clothing department, which currently has 44 students engaged in making personal garments or household articles.

The purpose of the Commercial Clothing course is to teach beginning employment to girls who wish to earn their living in some phase of the garment industry. One additional purpose is to develop character through desirable work habits and behavior.

This course is the lone trade class offered to girls at Dunbar High School. Girls in the course spend one-half day in the workshop, either an all-morning or an all-afternoon session. Those enrolled must earn six credits, two credits a year.

Each girl works independently on projects taken from the three-completed their individual projects on garments using plaid and nap fabrics. They are now beginning their projects on light weight suits with collars and set-in sleeves. A sport skirt and a sport jacket are next in line. Some of these same girls made draperies for the teachers' lounge.

The third year students have made garments of knitted material and lined woolen slacks. During the second semester the girls are allowed to make "free choice garments." These are garments which the girls think would benefit them most.

In each grade level the students make samples of women's clothing. Also, a course in theory is taken with emphasis on trade art, trade math, and textiles.

Mrs. Blanche Edley, instructor of the course, feels, "This is an

During the regular meeting of the Junior class last month, officers were installed by Miss D. Lomax.

They are Bernard Morris, president; Eula Woodson, vice-president; Patricia Kinney, secretary; Diana Livingston, assistant secretary; Bobby Davis, business manager; and Davis Jones, chaplain.

Carrying out his regular function, the newly installed president named various committees for the year. The chairmen are Viola Lynch, Program; Patricia Kinney, Invitations; Barbara Lacks, Decorations; Ada Mason, Refreshments; and Lolita Mason, Music.

A. C. T. GIVEN

On Saturday, February 19, some Dunbar seniors took the American College Testing Program at Lynchburg College.

The test consisted of two main parts. The first part involved a series of questions about one's extracurricular achievements and educational plans. The second and major part of the battery consisted of four tests: English, mathematics, social studies, and natural sciences.

Most colleges require that the student seeking admission take this test.

Other testing dates are April 23, June 25, and August 6.

Class treasurers selected from each class of new French students are Charles Fore, Pedetha Arrington and Elwood Stamps.

Her other activities at the university include serving as a student senator and as a writer for the student newspaper.

ORBIT WITH THE TEENS

The big snowfall recently not only added mounds of white fluffiness but brought about many changes in the teenagers' orbit out of the daily hum-drum affairs. While we are exploring these changes, we'll catch up on the fashions—the fads—and what's new in the music and dance worlds.

Current Fads

Boots of various lengths and colors lead the current fad list. Lolita Mason and Diana Powell's white "Go Go" boots with the zipper up the back and black "Cha Cha" heels seem to set the stage for ladies who are eager to be in the swing of things.

Our boys seem to have found the answer, too, to the fad craze—the African Bush hair style. Walter Parrish proudly wears an African Bush which is about a half inch long with a part on the side.

Each girl works independently on projects taken from the three-year plan. They learn to use modern home sewing machines which are used in custom dress-making. They also learn to use industrial machines such as those found in factories where ready-to-wear garments are made.

This year the first-year girls have made individual skirts, blouses and dresses. Some of the more advanced girls have made draperies and bedspreads. At present the girls are working with light weight cotton or blended suits. The second six weeks will find these girls making garments using stripes. They will close the semester with a dressy dress using a synthetic fabric.

The second year students have

Keenest Dances

"Before we can learn one dance, here comes another," is the sigh of some teens. But isn't that the world of teenagers—frequent changes? Today we are surely surrounded by the Animal Kingdom in the dance world. The up-to-date dances are the most rhythmic since the beginning of the Twist Craze. The "Duck" is the most vigorous of all with the "Philly Dog" a close second. The "Boagaloo" and the "Boston Monkey" are as strong as ever.

Fashion Flashes

Light colored clothes are the most popular this year. Some of the colors popularly worn are bluish-green and yellowish-orange. The "A-line" skirts with matching sweaters are popular with the young ladies. Cranberry, pink, and white are still growing strong. Joyce Patrick and Betty Davis have

Dunbar To Host Western District Tournament, March 5

By Frank Hughes

There is much speculation about who will win the Western District basketball tournament championship this year.

Everyone at Dunbar knows who will not win—Langston, mainly because the Danville team does not have on its starting five the number one scorer in the Western District—Donald Culpepper. Neither does the Langston team have the Western District's top candidate for High School All American, who happens to be Dunbar's co-captain Wheeler Hughes.

And, as if this were not enough, Dunbar is the leading offensive team, with Culpepper boasting a fantastic 28.00 point average and Hughes following with a total of 214 points for a 21.4 average.

Backing up these two super stars are Hilliary Scott, Lawrence Jefferson, Richard Reaves and the Poets' 6'8" center Buddy Davis.

Because of the tremendous team work and the coaching of Coach Waters, there is no doubt that the tournament trophy will again be housed in the halls of Dunbar.

As of February 14, the standings in the district are:

Former Poet Joins NFL

A former Dunbar gridiron star who was denied permission by his mother to play college freshman football has signed a contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Richard Glover, who lives at 2015 Early Street, has signed with the Cowboys for an annual salary of $16,000. A bonus of an undisclosed amount was also included in the contract.

Big Dick Glover, as he is known by the coaching staff at Virginia State College, played ball for Dunbar during the 1960-1961 football season. He is currently enrolled at Virginia State as a political science major.

When the defensive tackle was asked how he felt about his achievement, he replied, "Football is a job to me now. I have to produce. And in July I will be producing with the big boys."

Glover was also sought after by the San Francisco 49er's.

Faculty Cagers Rout 'Good Guys'

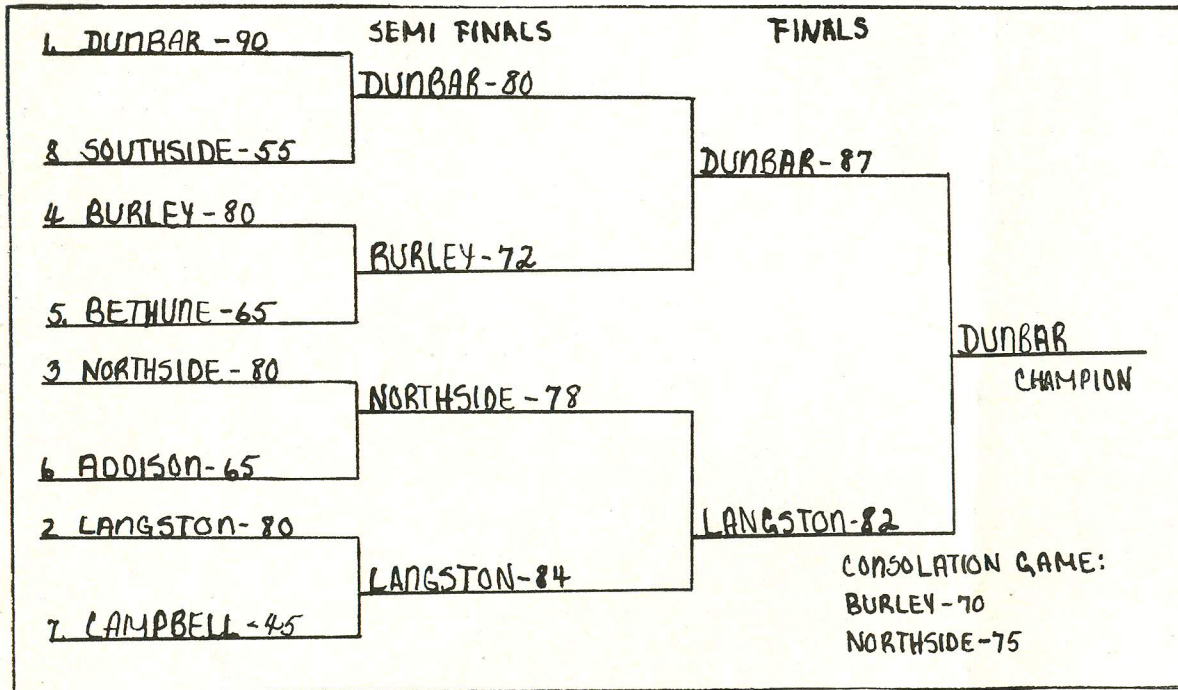

Members of the senior and junior high school faculties have banded together to form a men's faculty basketball team.

Under the direction of Mr. Leroy Cofield, a physical education instructor, the team has played a game every week during the past four weeks, maintaining a record of 3-1.

A highlight of the season was the somewhat hilarious encounter with the WLLL "Good Guys" (disc jockeys). A brilliant performance by Mr. B. A. Miller and others gave the Dunbar quint an edge against such "great" personalities as "Ankles Armstrong" and "Baskets Brooks." Dunbar was victorious with a score of 104-40.

Games are held weekly in the Dunbar gym usually on Wednesdays at 8 P. M. Admission is only $.25.

Chronicle Predictions of Tournament

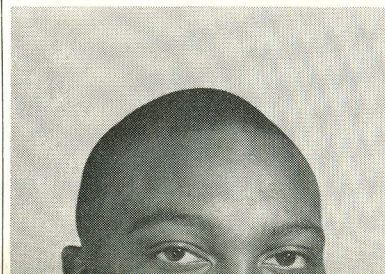

Poets Anxiously Await Title Tilt With Langston Lions

"D-Day" is almost here. Many people may wonder what "D-Day" is, but everyone at Dunbar knows the significance of this special day.

In a previous game this season, the Poets were victorious in defeating Langston 87-73 on the home court. The Poets are going to Danville with the attitude that this tournament

Addison, who had humbled the Dunbar cagers 73-69 in Roanoke, received a sound whipping when they played here. The Bulldogs bowed to Dunbar 108-85. After an eight of this special day.

On February 25, better known as "D-Day," the Poets will travel to Danville to meet the Lions of Langston High School. Both teams are anxiously awaiting this match, because the winner will be declared the District Visitation champion.

Track Team Prepares For Northern Relays

The Dunbar track team started hard practice at the beginning of this school term to bring all of the track championships to the school this year.

On January 15, the Jets went to the Richmond Arena to participate in the Chesterfield Invitational Track Meet. The Relay team, composed of Alfred Dean, Douglas Jones, Hubert Jackson and the track team's captain, Davis Jones, won the Mile Relay. Each winner received an individual trophy.

Earlier the Jets participated in a four mile Cross Country Run at Bethune High School at Halifax, where they won second place.

The Jets plan to participate in the Northern Relays in Alexandria, the Penn Relays in Philadelphia, the State Meet in Petersburg, the Western District Track Meet and a number of other meets.

Other members of the track team are Jerry Hubbard, Bobby Brown, Alfred Elliott, William Reid, and Ray Barnette.

Also, Bernard Trapp, Eugene Banks, Tyrone Robinson, Sherman Thomas, and Dennis Nowlin.

The improvement and the determination of these boys to win will move them toward the Western District and state championships.

going to Danville with the attitude that this game is a must. In the game will be pitted the two top teams in the district: Dunbar, the number one offensive team and Langston, the number one in defense.

While Langston is known for their man to man defense, Dunbar is known for their fast break. What will be the outcome of this game of opposite tactics?

Last week Dunbar massacred Campbell County 107-70 on the Poets' court. Earlier the Poets defeated Burley in a nip-and-tuck decision here in Lynchburg. Dunbar won that game with two seconds left in the game or a lay-up by Hilliary Scott.

White Rock Leads Girls League

Every Tuesday and Thursday a group of girls from the various sections of town meet at Robert S. Payne to play basketball.

There are four teams organized which include White Rock, Galaxies, College Hill and The All Stars. The teams, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, are directed by Mrs. Barbara Martin and Mr. Carl F. Pinn.

White Rock Hill is in first place with four wins and no losses. Among the stars for White Rock are forwards Pat Kinney, Ethel Rose, and Juanita Clark. The guards are Helen Camm, Sylvia Camm, and Van Jones.

The Galaxies, who include Eunice Jones, Darlene Elliot, Elois Braxton, Clara Colmore, Mary Johnson and others, are in second place.

Also, on Wednesday evenings, Mrs. Martin works with girls from elementary schools who are learning the fundamentals of basketball.

here. The Bulldogs bowed to Dunbar 108-85. After an eight point score to Dunbar's 21 at the end of the first quarter, Addison could never catch up.

This is the third consecutive year that the Poets have scored over the hundred mark against Addison on the Dunbar hardwood. Donald Culpepper put on another of his sparkling performances by scoring 31 points, while Wheeler Hughes threw in 22 points.

Culpepper Puts Capital 'P' In Poets

Donald Culpepper, 6' 1" senior, is co-captain of the Dunbar varsity basketball team. Leading the Western District teams in scoring averages, "Pepper" is, no doubt, the most admired person on the hardwood.

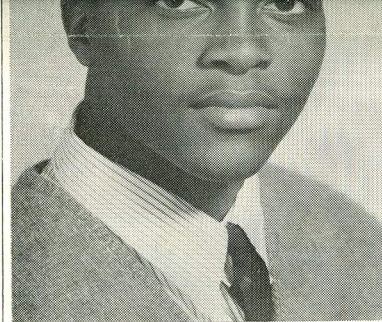

Pepper reached the 40 point mark in the January 21 game against Mary Bethune of Halifax. This is the highest he has scored in a single game during his four years on the varsity squad.

This lank athlete is known for his rebounding record, also. Since the loss of Edward Brown, leading rebounder, Pepper hasn't hesitated to fill the position as new rebounding whiz.

Repeatedly, Pepper has come forth with points, when they were most needed. His greatest contribution occurred Friday, January 28, in Charlottesville. The Poets, first place team in the district, was having a tight game with the Burley Bears. At the end of the first quarter the Bears were leading by one point, and at half time they were two points ahead. The game was basket for basket, as the third quarter ticked away.

During this quarter, Wheeler Hughes, second in line for point average per game, and Lawrence Jefferson, winner of Dunbar's Athletic Scholarship Award last season, along with Pepper, added surplus points to the Poets' score. Pepper took the ball outside and passed it to Hughes, who dribbled to half court. Hughes passed it to Jefferson, who shot for the goal.

With one minute left in the game, The Poets were leading 79-77. But right in the midst of the Poets' jubilation one of Burley's players was fouled. Being able to get one free shot, the opponents changed the score to 79-78.

Getting possession of the ball again, the Bears raced toward their goal and made a basket. The score was now 79-80 in Burley's favor.

Parks, who plans to study law, is an honor student and president of the senior class at Dunbar.

Duke Athletic Director Eddie Cameron admits that the Blue Devils had tried hard to recruit Parks. However, Duke was not the only school interested. According to Parks, other schools which tried to recruit him were Wake Forest, North Carolina, Maryland, and Davidson.

with the time clock ominously showing four seconds remaining in the game.

Donald Culpepper intercepted the ball, headed toward the Poets' goal, and "literally" placed the ball into the basket.

This dazzling play by Pepper resulted in an 81-80 Poet victory over the Bears.

Truly, the moment that Culpepper placed the ball into the basket in Charlottesville he figuratively capitalized the "P" in Poets!
